Welcoming New Staff

Christopher Albritton, Prison Oversight Specialist

Events Attended

Women's Community Correctional Center: Ku'u Mana, Ku'u Ala: My Power, My Path Women's Empowerment

On December 5, 2025, Commission staff attended the Ku'u Mana, Ku'u Ala: My Power, My Path Women's Empowerment Conference, hosted by WCCC's Education staff and held at the Maunawili Cottage. The event included opening cultural protocol, a keynote presentation by Honolulu City Council District 3 Councilmember Esther Kia'āina, panel discussions, interactive workshops, and facilitated opportunities for dialogue and community connection centered on women's empowerment. A total of 88 incarcerated women participated in the conference. HCSOC staff served as speakers alongside other women with lived experience, sharing perspectives on resilience, healing, and justice-involved pathways. The conference provided meaningful opportunities for community engagement and alignment with trauma-informed and healing-centered approaches relevant to reentry and system oversight efforts.

Misdemeanor Post-Booking Jail Diversion Program

On Wednesday, December 10, 2025, HCSOC staff attended a meeting focused on reviewing enhanced diversion efforts for misdemeanants diagnosed with a mental health disorder. The discussion centered on the Misdemeanor Post-Booking Jail Diversion Program, a pilot initiative jointly implemented in February 2023 by District Court Judge Hon. Melanie May, Prosecuting Attorney Steve Alm, Public Defender Jerry Villanueva, and Adult Mental Health Administrator Amy Curtis, Ph.D.

The meeting brought together several interagency representatives who play a critical role in the diversion process, including staff from DCR's Intake Service Center and the Department of Health. A highlight of the session was the participation of Hon. Steve Leifman, who successfully implemented the diversion model that inspired the current pilot program. Judge Leifman (Ret.) provided valuable insights and posed challenging questions to help the group identify strategies for strengthening and sustaining the program for long-term success.

This collaborative effort underscores the commitment of all stakeholders to improving outcomes for individuals with mental health needs and reducing unnecessary incarceration, paving the way for a more humane and effective justice system.

H.O.P.E. (Helping Other People Every day) Program

On Wednesday December 10, 2025, Commission staff visited the H.O.P.E. (Helping Other People Everyday) program to observe operations and engage with staff and participants. The visit highlighted the program's strong emphasis on family connection and peer support as key components in supporting accountability, healing, and successful reentry for justice-involved individuals, and contributing to HCSOC's understanding of effective reentry support.

Jail Diversion Observation

On Thursday, December 11, 2025, HCSOC staff observed several hearings at District Court presided over by the Honorable Deputy Chief Judge Melanie May. During these proceedings, individuals facing misdemeanor charges were considered for diversion opportunities. The court's jail diversion staff provided Judge May with real-time updates on participants actively enrolled in the program, including one individual whose charges were dismissed following successful completion of diversion requirements.

One of the most notable aspects of the process was the positive, respectful, and encouraging demeanor displayed by Judge May, court staff, and the public defender toward the accused. This approach reflects a core principle of rehabilitation – treating individuals with dignity and fostering an environment conducive to behavioral change. After the hearings concluded, invited attendees, including DCR staff, engaged in a meaningful discussion with Judge May and her diversion team on strategies to further improve and expand the program.

KCCC Keiki Day

On December 13, 2025, HCOSC staff joined a holiday-themed Family Day event at Kaua'i Community Correctional Center (KCCC). The celebration featured festive music, lunch, games, and a gingerbread house crafting activity. In total, 33 family members came together to share meaningful moments with 13 individuals in custody. Additionally, age-appropriate gifts were provided for the keiki in attendance, which was clearly appreciated by the families. The atmosphere was vibrant and full of positivity, as families embraced the opportunity to strengthen bonds and create cherished memories during the holiday season.

HCSOC extends its heartfelt appreciation to the dedicated KCCC staff and volunteers whose hard work, and compassion made this event possible. Their efforts exemplify the power of community and the importance of fostering hope and connection. HCSOC remains committed to supporting initiatives that nurture family relationships and encourage positive growth for individuals in custody, paving the way for brighter futures.

NACOLE 2025 Webinar Series – Correctional Medical Oversight in California: Critical Components and Key Takeaways

In December 2025, HCSOC staff gained access to the 2025 Webinar Series – Correctional Medical Oversight in California: Critical Components and Key Takeaways, hosted by the National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (NACOLE). This session provided an in-depth look at how California’s Office of Inspector General has structured its Medical Inspection Unit (MIU) and how the MIU has evolved its processes to ensure quality healthcare in correctional settings.

The MIU operates through a multidisciplinary structure that includes a Management Team, Analyst Team, Compliance Team, and Case Review Team. During the webinar, MIU representatives outlined their two-component process—case review and compliance—supported by 15 key indicators used to evaluate healthcare quality. These indicators serve as benchmarks for assessing medical care delivery, compliance with standards, and overall system performance.

For HCSOC, this webinar was more than an informational session—it was a strategic opportunity to gain insight into the resources, staffing models, and analytical frameworks necessary to build effective oversight for Hawai‘i’s correctional healthcare system. Understanding the complexity of California’s approach highlights the importance of specialized expertise, robust data analysis, and clear compliance metrics. These elements will guide HCSOC in identifying what tools, personnel, and processes are essential to ensure transparency, accountability, and continuous improvement in healthcare for individuals in custody.

Looking ahead, HCSOC plans to leverage these insights to develop a comprehensive roadmap for correctional healthcare oversight in Hawai‘i. This includes assessing current gaps, engaging stakeholders, and advocating for the resources and expertise needed to implement a model that aligns with national best practices. By taking these steps, HCSOC aims to create a system that not only monitors compliance but actively promotes quality care, equity, and improved health outcomes for all individuals in custody.

Projects

Complaint Management

After receiving dedicated funding for a case management system from the legislature, the Commission secured a vendor to ensure a smooth and efficient system for the office. Commission staff are working through a 15-week systems integration process, which involves integrating the case tracking system developed by Commission staff with the newly developed case management system. Once this process is complete, the Commission will be better equipped for tracking, monitoring, investigating, and responding to incoming complaints.
